Mathematics in Imaging and Information Science

Prof. Stanley Osher
University of California

Abstract:

With the advent ofthe computer we can now develop algorithms That perform incredible tasks-special effects in Hollywood, catching bad guys on video, hyperspectral, medical, detecting dangerous chemical or biological plumes. These algorithms often include elementary geometry, optimization and relate to how humans process visual information. In this talk the speaker will discuss such algorithms and their application to everyday life.