

Some LQP-based numerical algorithms for nonlinear complementarity problem

Xiao-ming Yuan

Antai College of Economics and Management, Shanghai Jiaotong University

Abstract. This talk will summarize our recent research results concerning numerical algorithms for nonlinear complementarity problem. Some new methods will be presented based on the well-known logarithmic-quadratic proximal method, which was originally presented by A. Auslender, et al. Some numerical results will also be reported.